What is a Steward?

A Steward is the official union representative in the workplace. They are elected by their BU coworkers to take the lead in addressing workplace problems and implement the union's overall vision. The Steward's role is not to do things for workers but rather to take the lead in doing things with workers to help improve everyone's working life and environment.

The Role:

Organize co-workers

Educate members on union-wide issues and policies

Represent workers in grievance and disciplinary procedures

Listen to concerns and complaints raised by workers

Conduct worksite meetings

Investigate workplace problems

Problem Solve with workers and supervisors

Consult frequently with staff representatives

Enforce the contract

Recruit co-workers to perform Union functions and activities

Stewards must be...

- A respected member of the Union
- A leader in the workplace
- Accessible to other workers
- A good communicator
- Responsible and fair
- Willing to spend non-work time on Union issues
- Committed to the Union principles
- Able and willing to stand up to the boss
- Willing to be trained.

Special Status: The Steward holds a special legal status when they engage in union business or act in their official capacity. Union Stewards are protected under the National Labor Relations Act.
